McLENNAN COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.

MEMBERS TEXAS ABSTRACTERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE ONLY COMPLETE ABSTRACT OF McLENNAN COUNTY RECORDS

518 WASHINGTON STREET, PHONES: NEW 1010; OLD 620. R. S. VAUGHAN, MGR.

though the informal understanding there has been that he would not.

Feeling was tense throughout official Washington over developments in the Mexican capital, but the denial sent by Charles O'Shoughnessy stating that no ultimatum demanding recognition had been received, relieved the tension materially. Senators exhibited keen interest in the situation and President Wilson gave inquiries what information he had.

Judgment generally was deferred until the Mexican note had been received in full. Additional parts of it were being received during the night. The work of translating it from Spanish into English and placing it in cipher, coupled with the slow telegraph communication with Mexico City, made it probable that the full text would not be in hand until late tomorrow, though the statement that the note contains 7,000 words has not been confirmed. Publication of the American note has been postponed to await the outcome of Mr. Lind's second efforts to reach an understanding with Provisional President Huerta.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, while authorizing no announcements on the situation, were keeping in close touch with developments tonight.

Messages came from many sources during the day endorsing a policy of peace. "We want peace, not war," wired Governor McConnell of Idaho. "Endorse your policy."

Eagle Pass, Tex., Aug. 19.—(Constitutionalist Headquarters, Aug. 19, 1913.)—Following the surprise of Saturday morning the constitutionalists fell back in good order and established their headquarters at this place, 25 miles north.

The women and children were hurried back to railroads and embarked on cars, part of the troops accompanying them and part remaining to hold the federalists in check, but the latter made no further effort after occupying Hermanas. All the rolling stock of the railroad at that point being successfully taken north to this place and to Sabinas, whether the refugees both from Hermanas and Lampacitos were taken.

Seventy Dead.

The loss in dead of the constitutionalists is placed at between 60 and 70 with many wounded. The loss of the federalists is unknown. Several thousand refugees are now in Sabinas and the railroad yards are crowded with cars occupied by them. Hundreds are camped under the trees and every house in the place is crowded. The constitutionalists are taking supplies of meat, corn and sugar to the destitute people and there is no suffering from hunger. There are plenty of cattle available and the corn harvest is just beginning, which makes plenty food for a while.

At Allende are also fully 2000 refugees and as that place is in a rich farming section no suffering from hunger is apprehended. Both Sabinas and Allende are well defended by troops. From train, went south from Sabinas last night with reinforcements for General Gonzalez. With the headquarters of the latter at this place, which consists of a box car and a couple of dismantled water tanks, he has ordered troops to place over fifty miles, making it impossible for the federalists to advance until the railroad is repaired and bridges reconstructed to permit the passage of trains with tank cars for water.

Contrary to expectations, the constitutionalists, both officers and men, encountered here and at points along the road, do not appear disheartened but are full of enthusiasm and hope as indicated by the cheers that met the train on which the Associated Press correspondent traveled and the deafening demand for arms and ammunition that was heard at every halt.

Demand Protection for Foreigners.

Eagle Pass, Aug. 19.—Because of the destruction of the Lampacitos Coal Mining plant, which was the property of the C. A. Aguilera y Anexas, a French concern, a formal protest was filed this afternoon by Acting Consul Blocker of Piedras Negras with the constitutionalist authorities against the destruction of property of Americans and the loss of life and property of the French concern. The protest demanded that immediate guarantees be given that foreigners and foreign property should not be molested in future. The destruction of Lampacitos, which carries with it the looting and burning of personal property of several Americans living in company houses, was cited. General Jesus Carranza and ex-Governor F. Gonzalez Garza of the federal district, upon whom the protest was served, expressly disclaimed any intention or desire to interfere with the property of persons or foreigners of any nationality.

A written answer to the American protest will be returned tomorrow.

BEES TIE UP TRAFFIC.

Minneapolis Corner in Possession of 20,000 Honey Makers.

(Minneapolis (Minn.) Dispatch.)

Minneapolis were given a taste of real country life when Edward Mattison, a neighbor boy of Skook, grabbed a tin pall, quieted the bees to some extent, secured a step ladder and climbed up with an empty box. Bare-headed, he began to urge the bees into the box with a small stick.

No one knows how the bees happened to alight in the city. A swarm often travels as far as fifty miles, according to Skook, who is a bee sharp.

"They follow their queen," explained Skook. "You can't tell when they will alight for any one may cause the queen to stop. Once she alights the whole swarm settles down. Those bees are fine honey bees. I will take them home with me."

Other farmers stood by and shouted advice on how to hive the swarm, but young Mattison went ahead with no fear of stings.

Deaf and Dumb Congress.

Ghent, Belgium, Aug. 19.—The first international congress of the deaf and dumb was opened here today. All the proceedings were conducted in the sign language.

Canada's water power is estimated at 16,600,000 horsepower, of which only about 1,016,000 horsepower has been developed.

Justice Du Puis conducted the affair briefly. Thaw heard the indictment and was not permitted to enter a plea. Before his attorney could enter an objection the court had ordered him committed without bail to the Sherbrooke jail for hearing tomorrow. He was brought here this afternoon.

Constable Under Bond.

Temple, Tex., Aug. 19.—A preliminary hearing was accorded Constable Logan Parks of Rogers yesterday in connection with the death of Sam Muskan, a negro, which occurred Saturday night last at Rogers and the officer was released in nominal bond of $1000. The officer had placed the negro under arrest and was taking him to the city calabozo. His prisoner was in custody until the jail door was reached when he showed fight. In a tussle that caused for possession of the officer's pistol the latter was discharged and a single bullet struck the negro in the neck severing the jugular vein and causing his death shortly after.

HOUSE REFUSES TO MAKE CHANGE

WILL NOT ADOPT DIFFERENT SYSTEM OF CHOOSING COMMITTEES.

PLAN TO HAVE PEACE DAY

Mexican Matters Taken Up—Anti-Censored for Leaving on Verge of Pro Efforts.

Austin, Aug. 20.—At 2 o'clock this morning the lieutenant governor signed the following bills:

House bill No. 44, warehouse certificate bill.

House bill No. 74, relating to the duty of the drainage commissioners.

Both houses adjourned at 2:30 a. m.

Austin, Aug. 19.—In the dying hours of the session the house refused to change its present plan of choosing committees by the selection of a committee on committees. When the subject was called up the speaker was swamped with requests for recognition.

A hard fight was brought on over the resolutions signed by Tarver and others. While this has never been before what is now the pro caucus, it is a signal defeat for the same crowd which brought the caucus into being and today agreed to support only a prohibitionist for speaker of the next legislature.

The resolution to change the rules had three important features and that changing the way of naming committees was defeated because a two-thirds majority could not be mustered to its support, a majority of 56 to 45 polling the sense of the house.

Many antis had left the session for their homes when this fight came on and received a castigation from W. T. Bagby for leaving when this eleventh hour effort from the pro contingent came up. Another important change in the rules urged was to make floor reports invalid except on purely local bills. This was carried by a vote of 71 to 26.

The floor fight over this resolution was one of the most spectacular of the session. For its main features, it comprised one of Bagby's typical speeches, a speech on personal privilege by Russell, a slashing argument against the resolution by Terrell, and an inflammatory closing speech by Tarver.

In support of the resolution Bagby took exception to a remark in Russell's opening speech that Bagby seemed entirely reactionary and to have been drawn away from the people.

The house bill by Dove, Calvin, Fields and others making warehouse certificates negotiable, was first put into free conference committee when the house refused to accept the senate amendments.

Later the senate was tied up in executive session over the confirmation of the house, and the motion of Dove, accepted the senate amendments and concurred, assuring this legislation.

Both branches accepted the free conference committee report on the miscellaneous appropriation bill.

As an evidence of the attitude of the members of the house of representatives with reference to the situation in Mexico, a resolution offered this morning in the house to set aside May 15 and order a day of mourning for the unsettled condition on the border was referred by a motion of Hornsby to the committee on military affairs, by practically a unanimous vote. Speaker Terrell, respecting the vote of the house, submitted it to that committee for reference.

Adoption of a resolution by Householder to send to the members of the Texas contingent in the United States congress a request to pay special attention to the measures that would involve the marketing of farm products, etc., was made unanimously, but a resolution to index the record of the penitentiary investigating committee was voted down heavily. Reedy took the floor again to indicate the record to that bill that had come on the floor from the committee had been drawn irrespective of any findings of the investigating committee and "that when it emerges you will not know your own child."

The house then settled down to the passage of local bills. The following bills were given final passage:

By Hudspeth, special district court for El Paso; Harley, creating Gonzales independent school district; Willey, San Antonio road law; Dallas county road law; Hudspeth, Mason county road law; Nugent, prohibiting creation of deficiencies by boards of the state institutions; Wiley, game, fish laws and prohibiting the use of seines; Nabours, Monahan, Montgomery, Williams of Hopkins, Hopkins county road law; Hudspeth, naming counties in Sixty-Third judicial district and setting time of holding court.

IN THE SENATE.

The senate this morning adopted the free conference committee report on the miscellaneous and deficiency appropriation bills and appointed the following free conference committee on the warehouse certificate bill: Lattimore, Brelsford, Townsend, Taylor and Darwin.

The house bill by Ritchie, amending the demurrage law so as to provide a fine of $25 per day for delay or failure to furnish cars to shippers on written demand, was finally passed.

After the Williams blue sky bill had been recalled, the senate adopted the amendment by Hudspeth, Darwin and others, requiring foreign corporations to have 50 per cent of their capital stock paid in when entering Texas and to corporations doing an exclusive loan business or insurance concerns under the supervision of the department of insurance and banking. Townsend made an unsuccessful attempt to have a substitute amendment adopted providing that all foreign bank and trust companies shall meet the same conditions as Texas corporations before getting Texas permits.

The senate adopted a resolution signed by all the senators, complimenting Senator John G. Willey on his long and faithful service and a love feast was held just before noon.

Canada's water power is estimated at 16,600,000 horsepower, of which only about 1,016,000 horsepower has been developed.

DEATH BENEATH GROUND

For Mr. J. C. Clark—Miner's Story Involving New Earth Fluid, Vitalitas.

An experience that is most extraordinary is set forth in the following letter from Mr. Clark of San Antonio: Gentlemen: Your Vitalitas has done for me what the best doctors I could find, travel and change of climate, failed to do.

From 1875 to 1903 I was engaged in mining in the lead and zinc regions of Missouri and had to be in the ground and in the gig room in the ore mills so much that I contracted a disease known as "miner's consumption," which caused an abscess to form on my lungs in 1903.

My case was pronounced hopeless by five good doctors, but I finally got able to travel and have been going from climate to climate, a physical cure, ever since, until I commenced taking Vitalitas.

I have now taken two bottles of Vitalitas and I feel better and weigh more than I have for 25 years, and am free from aches and pains for the first time in many years.

I do not know that I am permanently cured, but I do know that I would not take fifty thousand dollars for what Vitalitas has done for me already.

Very respectfully, (Signed) J. C. CLARK.

1418 Pierson Ave. San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 7, 1913.

Very many of the greatest curative forces known to man, it is fully guaranteed to relieve or cure all derangements of stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. No matter if chronic or of long standing, Vitalitas will be found effective.

THAW TO FIGHT DEPORTATION

speech—or purported to be such—to the jury at Thaw's second trial.

After Thaw had spent some hours in his cell and grumbled a bit at his poor quarters, he was removed to the hotel, where the accommodations are better. It was at his lawyer's suggestion that he consented to see reporters.

"Where did you intend to go after you left Mattewan?" he was asked.

"I was going to Colorado," he replied quickly and finally. No amount of questioning could induce him to modify this declaration, nor could the interviewers persuade him to tell where he had been or what he had done since leaving Mattewan. Obviously, he firmly declined to answer all questions remotely bordering on the topic.

The authorities believe, however, that Thaw had an all day ride at breakfast after he left Mattewan. An automobile answering the description of his big touring car passed through White River Junction, Vt., Sunday night. The same car was seen yesterday morning at Woodsville, N. H.

On each occasion it was occupied by four men. It was believed Thaw and his two companions left one man with the car near Lancaster, N. H., before boarding the train. Of this, however, Thaw refused to talk. He was then asked:

Asked About Threats.

"Do you care to say anything about threats you are said to have made that you would go after certain people once you were out of Mattewan?"

"I shall make no answer to the nonsense of that sort that has been printed in the newspapers," he said and then ended the interview.

The photographers came next. Again Thaw balked. He would not consent to it—would not even consider it—until he put on a clean shirt and collar. He explained that he had no opportunity to change his clothes since leaving Mattewan.

Thaw's two companions surpassed him in reticence.

All the newspaper men could get was a description of each. One of them is five feet, eight or nine inches tall, smooth faced with dark hair and eyes and heavy set. The other is about the same height, lighter in build and of fair complexion.

Thaw may be sent back to New York on either of two grounds, namely:

First—Through deportation proceedings under the Dominion law which provides:

"No immigrant shall be permitted to land in Canada who is feeble minded."

Negro Knifed; Cops Hunt for Assassin

Gus Jones, negro, was perhaps fatally stabbed last evening at Ninth and Jackson streets by another negro. A pocket knife was used; two cuts were made in the left side, one of which pierced the left lung. The negro was taken to the Providence hospital, where his wounds were given attention by Dr. Hoke, city chemist. The police are now hunting for the negro who stabbed Jones. They have a good description of the man and an arrest is expected today.

W. P. Burton, Who Will Sail Lipton's Challenge Yacht

Sir Thomas Lipton has already picked the captain of his challenger for the America cup, W. P. Burton, an amateur yachtsman, known throughout British waters as one of the best sailors. He is now in the hands of the tea merchant makes his fourth attempt to take home the America cup. Burton has a reputation second to none. But Americans have some doubt if an amateur can equal such sailors as Captain Charlie Barr, whose fine handling of the American yacht in the international races, kept the cup on this side of the Atlantic.

Increases in Depositories.
Washington, Aug. 19.—Depositories in which the government keeps its money to pay its current expenses have more than doubled in number since February 1. On that date there were 449 depositories in various cities. Today there are 999. The increase is the direct result of an order by former Secretary MacVeagh that all drafts on government funds be drawn on the treasury. This necessitated an increase in the depositories so that funds would be more easily accessible. The $50,000,000 to be deposited in the agricultural states this month will further add to the number of depositories and United States Treasurer Burke expects there may be more than 1200. Many, however, will be only temporary.

THE FOSQUE-ROWELL PARTY IS NOW IN AMERICA

In her outgoing passage the steamer upon which Wacoans were to return was injured in the Saint Lawrence and put out of commission. This necessitated a new sailing date. A night letter received by Mrs. Walter Reese on Tuesday morning reported the landing at Boston of Walter Reese, Junior, Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Fosque, Miss Josephine Fosque, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rowell and the Misses Josephine and Virginia Rose, of Waco, with the other Texas members of their party who had toured Europe. The Fosques and Mr. Reese remain for two weeks sightseeing in Boston, as it was there they landed. The Misses Rowell and Mrs. Ray Rowell, with their sisters, the Misses Henderson, of San Angelo, are due in Waco with Thursday.

MRS. KOCH'S COMMITTEE HAS BEGUN ACTIVE WORK

As chairman of the collection of samples of women's work which is for sale, Mrs. A. W. Koch feels greatly encouraged. The interest manifested, even this early, is more than promising. The idea in this booth is to collect samples of work from women who wish to sell the same; not at the Cotton Palace, but in their every-day life. No commission is charged for the entry at the Palace, and the articles may be accompanied with name and address. For want of a more explaining name, the collection is termed a call for the Women or a Woman's Exchange. But the object is to show the various things women can do for turning the penny. Mrs. Koch will be assisted now by Mrs. Walter Gregg, but during Palace days she will have some one in her booth daily. In the meantime she and Mrs. Gregg are pleased to respond to any inquiries which the women both in and out of Waco desire to make.

STORIETTE NUMBER THREE. AND IT IS ABOUT THE BOY

Once upon a time there were several boys, and these boys liked to visit the girls. That is it should be. But these boys had never heard of the word, courtesy. They drove to the homes of the girls, whistled for the girls to come out to the curbstone, and there they loitered back, careless and mannerless. Sometimes these boys would take the girls out for a picnic or a drive. They sat, let the girls find their way out with bag and box, and scramble into the seat as best they could. And the neighbors looked on and said: "Have manners gone forever? Is there no thought of courtesy among the boys today?" And the girls were mortified that no more consideration was shown them before these boys. Once upon a time these same boys went to a dance. There they approached the girls, caught them by the arm, pulled them out of their seats, and were off for the dance. And these girls were again mortified.

Mothers, do you never tell your sons what common courtesy is? And, sons, do you never heed your mother's counsel? To be courteous, gentlemanly and respectful to the girls is to show your manhood and your gentleness. It is not effeminate. Suppose you set the example to your friends, who, let it be said in confidence, sadly need that example.

CAN YOU TELL THE AGE OF AN ANTIQUE RUG?

Do not even say you can tell the age of a rug. If you do, you are only showing your ignorance and your tendency to boast, for no one, not even experts, can do this. The serious student of tapestry and rug weaving is endeavoring to do this. If the expert professional fails, surely you, an amateurish ignoramus, will not attempt to do so. Indeed, Luther Hooper, a man who is giving long and serious study to the subject of textiles, is just issuing the result of his study in a book of 400 pages. In this Mr. Hooper says he believes it is technically impossible to tell the exact age of any piece of weaving. Until very recently all dyes, looms and threads have been the same. The study of rugs, however, is a fascinating one, as members of the Waco Art League, who have given some attention, will testify. By the way, in Waco homes are some valuable rugs, why not? Mrs. Edgar Whit has several which she bought herself in the Orient. She has the real Persian prayer rug. Other Waco women have rare weaves. More and more women of taste and refined ideas for home furnishing are studying rugs. If the right rug is bought for the right space in the home, it is likely to remain there for years, and the furniture, wall tints, wood work, be selected accordingly. The antique rug is really more to be desired than antique furniture, for rug weaving is a fast decaying art, while the manufacture of antique furniture is improving with every year.

Why Age is Not Told.
The age of a piece of tapestry or of a rug might be indicated by the design. The taste and ideas of the people are often detected in a picture; then why not in a rug? Simply because the rug weavers are not original artists; they are copyists, and one generation or one country will copy from another. So identity with the design is lost. Besides, the countries have not kept their art distinct and national. Even the Shah of Persia, the home of the rug art, in the sixteenth century sent his weavers to Italy. Thus did we get a Persian or an Italian rug? The great Gobelin tapestries in France were for many years done by weavers from Flanders; indeed, the works were controlled by Flemish merchants. In the rug, then, a Flemish or a French make? The skillful workman of today is so adroitly copying the pieces of past centuries that even connoisseurs are completely deceived.

So now let us show our knowledge rather than our ignorance, and not boast our ability to tell the age and nationality of a rug. But let us continue to study, for the subject is fascinating.

NOTES FROM DENVER BALL ARE READ WITH INTEREST

The grand conclave of Knights Templars in Denver ended in a wonderfully brilliant ball. The Knights then formed parties for scenic sights, some going as far as the Yellowstone. All expressed praise for the evening given the grandest entertainment in the history of Templar conclaves. In this, of course, the Waco participants joined.

Several notes are of interest here, especially those which concern women, women's gowns and what the women did. One of the things seen as out of the ordinary was the picture which showed a Denver woman presenting the five thousand dollar punch bowl, the prize trophy. This woman was in a packed convention hall in daylight. She wore a black hat and a gown with throat slit quite to the waist, back and front. This was an odd combination, a hat, with such an open waist frock, in the day time?

The women of the official Templar family presented the grand master's wife with a handsome wrist bracelet. Mrs. Melish, the recipient, took her gift attired in a colorful, embroidered mandarin coat, the entire back being a natural hued embroidered peacock, the symbol of good luck. The coat was all done by Chinese hand and given the California commandery.

"One of the pretty girls who danced at the ball last night," as the Denver paper puts it, had her hair without a single ornament, not even a fancy pin. The puffs over either ear and a third rather loosely pulled down over the center of the forehead, was all there was—quite simple, girlish and becoming.

There was no abortive dancing at this ball, this gathering of men and women from all parts of America. It was the dreamy, seductive waltz, and the more exhilarating two-step which enjoyed this, for it was well into the morning before the last notes of the orchestra sounded.

From the gowns described, messaline was almost a uniform. Some marquisette and much chamoisee were the next popular fabrics. Every conceivable trimming was noted, gold fringe, gold lace, shadow lace, "cobweb" lace, pearls, fringe, Oriental jeweled embroidery, crystal fringe, rhinestone embroidery, all were mentioned.

Tunics, girdles, sashes, jeweled plaques, shepherdess blouses, all appeared. Some were Persian, some were Bulgarian and some the simple liberty sashes.

It was noted that but few flowers were used as dress trimmings, and still fewer carried. Those mentioned were natural, and almost altogether worn as corsage bunches.

But from it all, the sweeping common, is, almost as many styles, and fabrics and flowers as there were persons.

One of the described costumes deserves special note. This was a woman who wore a gown to match the hue of her hair. This hair was "piled high on her head."

Of the Wacoans, two are mentioned. Mrs. Charles Brooks wore "lace drape over Nellrose chiffon, crystal trimmings," and Mrs. Laura Cornish "white lace drape over white crepe, diamonds."

Society Notes.
In furnishing a room have an eye to harmony in the placement of your furniture. Do not put all the heavy pieces on the same side of the room. A piece where comfort demands it. For example, a couch should be so that the light falls from the back, since, to lie and read is one of home comforts. A chair should be just where one is likely to fall into it without effort. And so on.

be a successful departure with this club.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frazier are leaving this morning for their home near Morgan. Mr. Frazier's long detention at the sanitarium, while tedious has been the means of restoring him to his former health.

Home friends are receiving cards of greeting from the A. F. Boltons, South Fourth. The latest were mailed at Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

It is now the provision of the first class hotels to have correspondence cards with the hotel crest on the writing tables of their guests.

We may be rude in other respects, but nothing except sudden death excuses being late to a dinner party. It is almost as bad as to keep scores of guests waiting to begin a game of bridge.

E. F. Carroll is leaving with this week to spend a vacation with Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. R. T. Dennis, who are still at one of the Wisconsin resorts. Mrs. Carroll is almost her old self in every respect, and her vacation has the climate of Wisconsin proved.

The college boy's room, if it needs a fresh wall cover, should be papered in the tones of his college colors. What matter if those colors are offenders to the eye and the harmony of the other rooms, nothing will so please the boy.

The cooler nights will make the weekly informal dance at the Country club all the more popular. These have been well attended all through the summer. One takes place tonight.

Our Savior said, "Blessed are the merciful," but some women who profess to follow Christ's precepts can take themselves to a church lawn for sermon and see their horse at the curbstone, writhing in the torture of self-check rein. Is this consistent religion?

Canvass for Congressman.
Washington, Aug. 19.—The democratic congressional committee already in canvassing the situation in the first congressional district of West Virginia where there is a vacancy by reason of John W. Davis' appointment to be solicitor general of the United States. The managers expect the election will be held in October and some of the best campaign speakers in congress will be sent into the district.

The committee's attention just now is directed to the campaign in the third congressional district of Maine where the election will be held September 18.

Commission Government Defeated.
Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—Advocates of the commission government were defeated yesterday in the first elections held in this state under a law passed by the legislature at its last session. The boroughs of Sunbury, Shamokin and Mount Carmel all voted against the innovation. The fact that there would be an increase in the cost of liquor licenses under the proposed charter is declared by those favoring the change to have been responsible for the result.

Beautiful Nurse Now Accused of Poisoning a Utica Doctor

Miss Emma Elizabeth Krill, a beautiful young nurse, is under arrest in Utica, N. Y., on a charge of poisoning Dr. Stanley E. Tron.

The state plans to try to prove that Miss Krill was jealous of a pretty Italian girl, and in consequence put Dr. Tron out of the way with a dose of morphine.

Miss Krill, it has been learned, was born in Mountaineer, Orange county, N. Y., July 26, 1889, one of the three daughters of Joseph H. and Ida Krill. When she was about eight years old her mother disappeared simultaneously with the disappearance of a Dr. Friedenberg.

Miss Krill was for a time employed in the Middletown State hospital for the insane, and later in the city hospital in Hudson, N. Y. She then went to New York, where she became acquainted with Dr. Tron. For a time she was in an Italian hospital, and later in the Living-In hospital. There her engagement to Dr. Tron was announced.

She followed to Utica shortly after his removal there.

Our Thoughtful Sons.
Father and son were sitting on the porch step with the lawn mower a few feet away. They looked at each other. Then they looked at the mower, relates the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Dad," said the youngster, "you're getting too stout."

"Am I?"

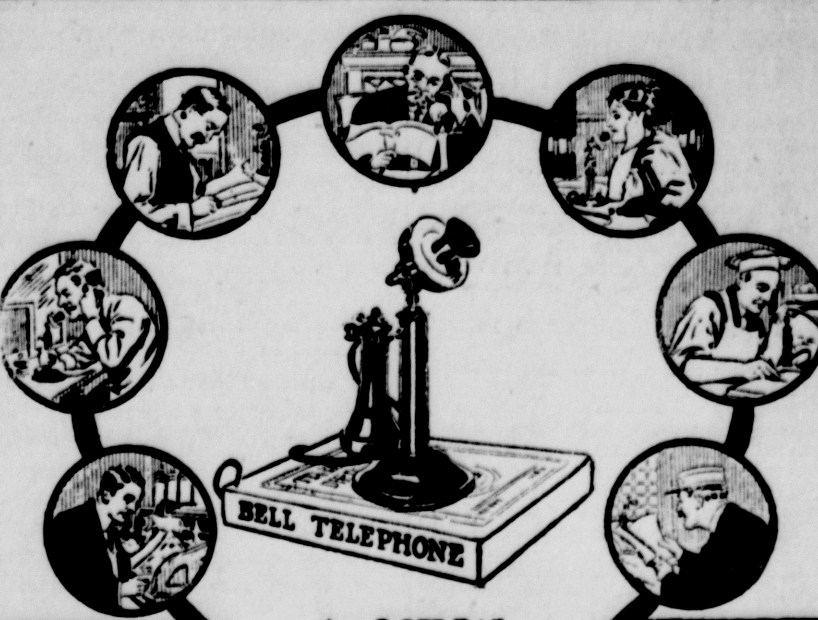

"Sure. It's a pity, too. Jack Perkins told me yesterday that his had had reduced his waist measure four inches."

"How?"

"Pushing the lawn mower."

There was a brief silence. Then the son got up and went into the house for his tennis racket, and dad arose and tackled the mower.

Inquire Into Allegations of Atrocities in Balkans

London, Aug. 19.—Nicholas Murray Butler president of the Columbia university and representative of the Carnegie Foundation, is organizing an international commission to inquire into the allegations of atrocities committed during the Balkan war. The commission, it is said, probably will be constituted as follows:

Prof. John D. Prince, Columbia university, representative from the United States; Francis W. Hirst, editor of the London Economist, Great Britain; Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, France; Prof. Philipp Zorn of Bonn university, Germany; Prof. Paul J. Miukoff, leader of the constitutional democrats in the Russian duma, and Prof. Heinrich Lammasch of the University of Vienna, Austria.

Dr. Butler's action was taken in response to appeals made in Bulgarian quarters for a public inquiry into the extent of and responsibility for the atrocities committed by the belligerents during the second Balkan war. Not all the suggested commissioners yet have consented to serve, but a meeting is to be held in Paris to discuss the preliminaries.

Murray Outlines Plans.
Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university, while here today, outlined the plans of the proposed international commission to inquire into conditions in the Balkans.

"The Carnegie endowment fund for international peace through the division of which I am chairman," said Dr. Butler, "is sending a special commission to the Balkan peninsula to make a personal investigation and report for the information of the public opinion of the world on three points:

"First, the outbreak of hostilities between the allies at the conclusion of the war with Turkey.

"Second, the truth or falsity of outrages reported to have been committed by the combatants, particularly the mutilations of captives, outrages on women and destruction of private property.

"Third, the economic waste caused by this war between the allies and its cost."

"The commission will be organized and proceed to the Balkans before the close of August.

"The feeling in the matter was brought about by statement printed in this country on the authority of the king of Greece."

Kills Wife and Self.
Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 19.—While four of their six children looked on helplessly, John Marshall shot dead his wife at the breakfast table in their home in Martins Ferry, across the Ohio river from here. Today Marshall died to the attic of his home and when police cut off his escape he killed himself.

Marshall was said to have heard unfounded reports reflecting on his wife's character.

GLAD OF THAW'S GETAWAY.

The average man's respect for the law usually is not so overwhelming that it can force out all human sympathy—the age-old "sympathy for the under dog". In the past twenty years there have been many crimes more heinous than Thaw committed that have had as a part of trial's aftermath a strong share of public sympathy for the convicted and frequently the public's protest against execution, and plea for shortened serving of sentence. When Thaw shot White to death few believed he would not escape the chair or life sentence, or even conviction for manslaughter on the insanity plea. And this defense served, until Thaw's aim became not to escape penalty for crime as a demented man, but to establish the "restoration" of his sanity and get out of Matteawan, back to his people and the freedom of cities. Since the commission in New York sent him to this place for the criminal insane huge sums of money have been thrown away by his people, legally and—it is generally reported—otherwise, to open the doors of dread Matteawan. Since his arrest for killing the notorious but brilliant architect, Thaw's has been a million-dollar life. Life in the Toms and in the madhouse was made somewhat easier for him. There was an investigation of alleged bribery for his escape and for certification of sanity.

Of the cause of Thaw's crime nothing need be said in this late day. The woman in the case is showing now more than ever the extent of Thaw's mad folly—the unbalanced obsession of his days before as after the killing. She reviles him and his name. The chief fact is that a considerable majority of people in this country did not consider White's killing a notable occasion for taking that frequently sanctimonious attitude that runs to such expressions as, "Let him reap the whirlwind." They thought, and think, Thaw was very much the under dog. In this region, certainly, cool-headed men have kept their heads cool and have slain in revenge for domestic wronging—and the records of the South's criminal courts are not overburdened with convictions for this sort of homicide. Many saw no justification even for taking into account Thaw's forewarnedness of the career of the woman he was to marry, to offset any sympathy that ordinarily would go out to a man placed as he was placed. So repugnant to the generally accepted "unwritten law," so warranting of the usual results of "dementia Americana" were the circumstances of Thaw's life with this woman popularly considered, that sentiment ran first in favor of Thaw escaping violent penalty of his violence by proof of insanity, and then in favor of his restoration to liberty after a term in the State's asylum.

It is to judge that feeling largely will be satisfaction that Thaw has made his getaway, and the desire that it may be without the law to return him to further incarceration in New York. Coupled with the hope that this man of hard life be kept out of more mischief, it is difficult to find fault with such a sentiment. For none really doubts that Thaw was out of his head in the days leading up to the killing in Madison Square Garden, and very few have cared that the manner of Thaw's life was responsible for his mental condition equally with the revelations by the woman. The victim got his deserts, the public decided.

There would be no need of rising vote to dispel doubt as to a viva voce expression of the populace on the returning of Mr. Thaw to Matteawan.

And the 34th, praise be! many months away.

POLITICS APART.

The Evening Mail of New York City is a progressive newspaper—meaning it is Bull Moose in politics, red hot for Roosevelt. Its policies and achievements apart from politics are progressive enough. And in the following it asks a question that must be answered apart from politics; no Democrat or Republican may hedge on a truthful reply.

Of what it terms, "A Legitimate Consequence," or the present wretched results of New York State's ironclad rule of machines in politics, the Evening Mail editorializes. "The disgraceful situation at Albany," it says, "is a blazing example of the degradation into which the old parties have plunged our politics." And, coming down to it, it is, "Gov. Sulzer has honored himself by quarreling with Tammany; he was too good a man for the job that Murphy wanted him to do. But he came into office, nevertheless, as the candidate of the very influence which is now seeking his ruin. He was the chosen instrument of an abominable tyranny whose destructive power his plight illustrates."

This was our view the day it became known the Tammany ring in the assembly had determined on ousting Sulzer, little sympathy as we had for the behavior of Sulzer in manipulating his office for himself or for the campaign misfeasances with which he was charged. But—the Mail adds: "The Barnes tyranny is of the same nature as the Murphy tyranny, and it is now participating in Sulzer's destruction."

"A way of getting rid of this hideous double despotism, which in its essence is exactly as treacherous as a conspiracy to set up a monarchy or turn us over to a foreign power would be, was offered to the people of the State last year by the Progressive party. Think of it a moment. Does any one imagine that if Oscar Straus had been elected governor, with a Progressive legislature, to back him, there would have been any such degradation of the name and honor of our State as that which is now proceeding? This scandal results naturally and inevitably from the system of party rule which puts every official and legislative act under the thumb of a party boss. It is the consequence and expression of that organized Murphysm and Barnesism which, by a united effort against the forces of progress, put the Democratic wing of the great conspiracy into power at Albany last winter."

We have no endorsement to give this charge that the Democrats and Republicans in New York combined to defeat Mr. Straus and the Progressives. The Mail offers no proof on this head. But, for the rest, put politics apart and the truth will be told. The Mail's opinion is irrefutable. This is a direct, inevitable consequence of organized bossism, this Sulzer denouement and disgrace. Whether Democratic Tammany or Republican Barnes machine, or both, contributed to and are forcing the game, that is the reasoning of present doings in Albany.

And let truth be told further. In many respects this land and its thinking, more honest citizens rapidly are coming to that stage where men will count for most in the bestowal of high public office—measures for much less, measures of distinctly party bearing for nothing at all, and straight political divisions and arguments will vanish by lot. Party politics, especially machine politics, are too often carrying a bad smell to win the heart and whole-mind support of the well-doing. Hon. Oscar Straus would have made New York the best governor in its history. Knowing much of the man, of that we are sure whether he had a Bull Moose assembly behind him, a Populist assembly or a Democratic. He would have given an administration thoroughly progressive—not the party division meaning, however—thoroughly business, thoroughly righteous. And the State would have demanded he be backed by the assembly in such a work regardless of the assembly majority's party complexion. More than ever before, it is a relief to sweep aside party lines and deal with men. The New York editor's injection of Mr. Straus's name into this Sulzer situation was timely and his conclusion wholly well founded.

TUBERCULOSIS WARNING.

Consumption or tuberculosis is produced by a minute vegetable parasite known as the bacillus tuberculosis, a germ which not only occurs in the human being, but is widely distributed among the lower animals.

Hereditary tuberculosis, notwithstanding the popular idea to the contrary, is very rare, but there is no question that those persons in whose families consumption exists are much more apt to contract the disease than others.

In just what manner the germs of tuberculosis gain entrance to the human body we are more or less uncertain, but there are reasons for the belief that in many instances they pass in by means of the inspired air; there is no doubt that in a small percentage of cases the germs gain entrance to the body through an abrasion in the skin or some mucous membrane, finally the bacteria are often taken in with the foods that we eat, or by putting objects, upon which the germs are present, into the mouth, or by eating with hands which have become contaminated and have not been washed. Of the foods that contain the germs of consumption milk is undoubtedly the most common, as there can be no question that fully 25 per cent of our cows have this disease. Meat, likewise, contain the germs of this disease, but, as they are usually cooked, no harm as a rule, results.

Reciting these facts, the Georgia State Health Board, in its public warning, says that quite as much importance as the introduction of the germ into the body is the resisting power of the individual at the time when the introduction occurs, since it is unquestionably true that the disease can make no progress unless the tissues have become susceptible through lowered resistance. All things that have the effect of lowering the vital resistance of the body, such as predisposing causes to consumption; such, for example, as lack of sleep, improper clothing in cold and damp weather, living in damp and improperly ventilated houses, want of proper food and exercise, particularly the taking of alcohol. Disipation is undoubtedly the cause which most frequently leads to consumption. It is a common error that drinking tends to ward off consumption. On the other hand there are good reasons to believe that this habit not only makes an individual more apt to contract consumption, but also tends to weaken his resistance to consumption after it is contracted.

In order then to avoid this disease, adds the statement, the individual should live soberly, should try at all times to obtain a reasonable amount of good food, should sleep a sufficient number of hours and should be properly clothed, particularly in winter. Those who devote their time and energy to their work—being careful not to labor excessively—are much more apt to escape consumption than those who do otherwise. It is particularly of importance that those who have a tendency towards consumption should early learn, and through live practice, the habit of breathing through the nose; if this rule be followed there is no question that a large percentage not only of the germs of consumption, but other bacteria as well, are filtered out during their passage through the nose and do not reach the lungs. Cleanliness is also of importance—a bath taken each morning in moderately cold water being conducive to health, not only as regards consumption, but other diseases as well. It is, of course, necessary that dwellings, schools and other houses be kept thoroughly clean.

"Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragette (right) under sentence to a term of three years penal servitude on a charge of conspiracy, packed her grip and left England for France Friday night," records Houston Post. "The police were instructed to throw no obstacles in the way of her leaving. The easiest way to get rid of her kind of suffragettes is the best. The English officials are wise in their generation. France will see to it that she keep within bounds." Not so, France can use the Pankhurst. She can make Moulin Rouge even more so. The English officials are weak in their generation. The surest way to get rid of the Pankhurst's kind is the best way—actual imprisonment, or deportation, to serve sentence of court. What becomes of the incomparable prestige of Briton's tribunals and the spine of her ministry?

"That intellectual Brahmin and puritan statesman," Dallas News dubs Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts. A Puritan is a purist in most ways of living and doing. Can the News find any ethics in all the years of Dr. Lodge's Massachusetts bossdom? Or pure statesmanship in his senate service?

The question is, if the railroads "educate" the people will the people put in office men from amongst those thus educated? If so, and this is "politics," bring on the politics!

Texas Viewpoints

Claude Callan's Chucklers.

"Whenever we pick up the Menard Messenger from the exchange table," says the editor of the Alvin Advocate, emerging from the comfort of his old arm chair, a fresh perfect and an hour of solid enjoyment to pencil this proper praise, "we settle ourselves comfortably in our old arm chair, light up a fresh perfect and prepare for an hour of solid enjoyment." To which adds Harry Johnson, in Houston Post: "Them's our sentiments, too." We haven't an hour to give to any exchange, even if it merited or needed an hour, but we chuckle continually when Claude Callan's columns come. It is considerable Claude.

Warren Would Work.

Willis Point Chronicle has heard that "Robert L. Warren of Terrell is being mentioned as a candidate for governor to succeed Governor Colquitt. Mr. Warren (it truthfully) is recognized as one of the strongest members of the State senate and is well qualified to fill the office. He is also financially able to make the race if he desired to do so, which is one of the essentials in making a race for governor." (This true, 'tis pity.) Senator Warren has merit, mind and money. Whether he would consider himself at liberty to make the race on the only platform to which we could subscribe—the upbuilding of Texas, with all factionalism, all extraneous issues political or moral eliminated—we do not know. He is a prohibitionist from principle and a Democrat from principle. We think he does not mix these unduly. His wealth is self-made; so is his character, which is excellent; so is his view of Texas's needs and conditions, which is strong, on the whole. We would like to think that men like to the Hon. Robert L. Warren will offer for governor. Are there more names to come that can show the same stamp?

Crushing Castro.

According to late dispatches, Castro has been crushed. Hardly. Castro's army may have been crushed, but we'll bet a pound of bacon Castro was somewhere else when it happened. Those are Corpus Christi Callers' words; that is its bet. We cannot take it. Callier is right. You cannot crush a windbag, which is a bladder—and Castro is a very bladder, and greased. You must puncture it and a Winchester pill is our most successful little puncturer. Is there none to dose the shifty, swarthy, sorry little man?

Our Police Problemists.

Is this sarcasm, or is it Wednesday? "The Texas police," says Willis Star, keeping its face straight "evenness how—"The Texas police are fearless in tackling the hard problems of the day. In galvanism one of the chief topics discussed by their State organization at its convention was how to control the wealthy and influential lawbreaker. When they have solved this knotty problem it is to be hoped they will give the rest of the country the benefit of the solution. It is too valuable a discovery to be confined to one State." Watch a policeman in DallasFortBearsSanHousWacAus, stop the speeding motor car of a professional prom. cit. or politician. Are you watching him?

Baiting the Bachelors.

That genial Benedick, Col. L. Peruchino Lochridge of the Statesman, after considering carefully (according to himself) the question of a tax on bachelors which his associate in the "paraphraser union" (they ain't no such fossil) insisted on so strenuously in his absence from the s. s., has "come to the deliberate conclusion that we must be either world-wide advocates of the tax or no advocates at all. The focal option plan does not work, and perhaps it never will. For in the principality of Ruess the bachelors, following the imposition of this tax, have gone on strike, moved out of the community and the girls are protesting because no longer can they angle for the bachelors. We repeat (Col. L. Peruchino repeats) that we believe in uniform world-wide bachelors tax or no tax at all. We can not tolerate women's tears." It is not so many

Alpha Does Not Admire.

The Waco Morning News says: "It is barely possible that the sunshin of fair dealing and the fresh air of common sense may come through the windows of our hall of representatives and strike the Allison bill." Yes, Mike, barely possible, but not by any means probable. Fair dealings and common sense are such strangers around the legislative hall at Austin that they could not hit the capitol building let alone the little Allison bill.—Palestine Record.

Palestine's and Waco's Need.

Cheaper gas for fuel would be a great help just now for this city. Gas at $1.50 per thousand is too much and the people should not be made to pay this price. Real, sure enough cities wouldn't stand for this price two months ago and now that natural gas has been found at Mexico, a pipe line could be run to Palestine without such an awful amount of money, and natural gas would be worth more to this city than another railroad system.—Palestine Record.

moons syne that the young colonel told us in no honeyed terms his opinion of the dictum of Sir James M. Barrie, in "My Lady Nicotine," that bachelors should be soaked, as there is no reason why bachelors should have the best of everything. "Those married editors," Jeff: McLemore would seem to apropos in State Topics, "who write so viciously of their fortunate bachelor brothers are simply whistling to keep their courage up." Jeff: is a bachelor—so are we, but not the sort who dares comment on Jeff's verity.

Harassing the Railroads.

(Texas Republic, San Antonio.) The Waco Morning News seems impressed with the conviction that perhaps the Waco hearing of the penalty and ouster suit against the Katy may be taken as a criterion of the nature and strength of this piece of state litigation with more fairness than the session in Dallas. The second sitting of the commissioner had to do more with the state's attempt to prove the "fearsome charge" of curtailment competition in the Texas railroad business. Says The News:

"The documents and records called for by the young representative of the attorney general ran more to the alleged grave offense of two lines of railroad exchanging freight and passengers. With all who read and keep in touch with business enterprise, remembering that the railroad commission's rather old order had recognized the Texas Central road as the same line for all purposes within its jurisdiction, there must be no little wonderment that the state's attorney set so much store by letters between the Texas Central officers and general and freight officers of the Katy concerning freight interchange. The average man would pass all this up as routine and very humdrum business. Not so, apparently, the assistant attorney general. We are given to understand that this is real evidence, part of a conspiracy of restraint of trade, mayhap, such as is mentioned in the amended petition that seeks to eject the Katy and other roads from Texas and gorge the treasury with 105 millions. The railroads perform a wonderful service for civilization which speaks of material development and advancement all along the line of community endeavor, and their reward for their beneficial activities is even payment by the state. Little politicians that is hoisted on the waves of incessant agitation into public office. In no other state have the politicians proven so vindictive against the railroad interests as the Texas genus of the blood of pestiferous agitators, who pursue their questionable activities to the utter disgust of the progressive, sensible, substantial class of the citizenship. Usually, the professional agitator is grossly ignorant of the laws of progress and development, and in all his activities against the corporate interests is guided by purely selfish motives, spelled in plain Anglo-Saxon—self-aggrandizement and individual illicit wealth accumulation."

Ambiguity, But Generous.

Waco and the Morning News

An Understanding.

As we understand it, the Y. M. B. L. is the organization that claims the right of putting the wake in Waco.—Belton Messenger.

The Trade's Troublers.

"Split trousers are now a fad," gurgles a headline in The Waco Morning News. That's nothing new with us. Our trousers are very often split, likewise patched.—Palestine Record.

On to Austin.

It is announced that the traction line from Dallas to Waco will be open to traffic the last of September. That ought to stimulate the towns down the line to hurry up with the completion of it and to complete the system to the capital.—Temple Telegram.

Is It Poison?

The Waco News hopes that prohibition will not be an issue in the campaign for governor next year. First what does The News expect Mr. Lane to run on? Without prohibition for an issue Mr. Lane may as well not get into the race.—Kosse Cyclone.

State or Federal?

It is announced via the Brazos river route from Waco that Dr. Samuel Brock has about made up his mind to enter the race for governor in 1914. There is only one thing that holds him back; his previous announcement for the United States senatorship should a vacancy occur this year. A very close friend of Dr. Brock furnished The Record with this information.—Fort Worth Record.

In the Lead.

Waco, that wide-awake city on the Brazos, is now strenuously engaged in advertising the big Cotton Palace exposition in November. This affair is one of the biggest of its kind in the south, and with the exception of the State Fair at Dallas, is the biggest in Texas. The Cotton Palace put Waco on the map and now that town is putting the Cotton Palace far in the lead of state fairs.—Palestine Record.

Alpha Does Not Admire.

The Waco Morning News says: "It is barely possible that the sunshin of fair dealing and the fresh air of common sense may come through the windows of our hall of representatives and strike the Allison bill." Yes, Mike, barely possible, but not by any means probable. Fair dealings and common sense are such strangers around the legislative hall at Austin that they could not hit the capitol building let alone the little Allison bill.—Palestine Record.

Palestine's and Waco's Need.

Cheaper gas for fuel would be a great help just now for this city. Gas at $1.50 per thousand is too much and the people should not be made to pay this price. Real, sure enough cities wouldn't stand for this price two months ago and now that natural gas has been found at Mexico, a pipe line could be run to Palestine without such an awful amount of money, and natural gas would be worth more to this city than another railroad system.—Palestine Record.

DOUGHTY MAKES STATEMENT

Recent Appointee to Position of Superintendent of Instruction
 Tells of Plans.

Austin, Aug. 19.—Superintendent W. F. Doughty of Marlin, who was recently appointed by the governor to succeed the retiring state superintendent of public instruction, was in Austin today and made the following statement:

"Yes, I have accepted the appointment, and will move my family to Austin within a few days, preparatory to taking the oath and entering upon my official duties September 1. It shall be my earnest endeavor to discharge the duties of the office of state superintendent of public instruction in a way that will guarantee the continued high degree of efficiency in promoting the educational interests of Texas."

"I did not come to Austin at this time to open my campaign for election next year, but I came purely on business. I desired to confer with the retiring state superintendent and to investigate the condition of the office work at this time. Yes, I may be a candidate next year, but in that event I shall not make a political campaign. I shall rely upon a faithful and efficient performance of the duties of the office as my best recommendation to the educators and the people of Texas for the place."

"I have received several hundred letters of congratulation from friends throughout the state in which many nice things are said, all of which, of course, are duly appreciated by me. It is impossible for me to answer each of these letters, and I hope that my friends will take this expression of appreciation as an evidence of my gratitude. All of these letters will be answered personally by letter a little later on. I am going to work for the further upbuilding and improvement of the entire educational system, and, judging from the letters I have received, I shall have the hearty co-operation of the people of the state."

"It is my purpose to return home either tomorrow or next day for the purpose of removing my family here next week."

Criticisms Naval Court.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Scathing criticism of the naval court which tried Paymaster Theodore J. Arms on charges of "culpable inefficiency" was endorsed by Secretary Daniels today upon the finding of the court sentencing the paymaster to a term of three months in grade for his connection with the commissary frauds aboard the battleship Louisiana. The secretary said the sentence was wholly inadequate and that he approved it only to prevent the officer escaping punishment entirely.

Fraudulent transactions by an enlisted man in the commissary department cost the sailors of the Louisiana several thousand dollars. Paymaster Arms was the commissary officer in charge.

Of the members of the court who recommended clemency the secretary said:

"They have placed themselves on record as in favor of condoning an offense which anyone having the real interest of the service at heart must regard as calling for severe punishment."

DIGGS TELLS OF RENO ESCAPE

MIDNIGHT FLIGHT ACROSS NE-VADA STATE LINE WHICH RESULTS IN TRIAL.

CONTRADICTS GIRL'S STORIES

Says Left Because of Worry Over Misconduct—Says Miss Warrington Planned Trip.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Maury I. Diggs, former state architect of California, told his story today of the motives impelling what he called the "Reno escape." This was the midnight flight across the Nevada state line from Sacramento to Reno with Marsha Washington, Lola Norris and F. Drew Caminetti, which resulted in the present trial under the Mann white slave act.

"What did you call it?" asked Judge Van Fleet, interrupting the testimony. "An escape," replied Diggs, speaking in a confident voice.

"Proceed," directed the court, without comment. All his testimony went to prove that he was worried, harassed, hunted from every side by the consequences of his own misconduct and that his only thought was to get out of town, give the scandal surrounding him a chance to die down and then come back to his family and business.

In direct contradiction to the testimony of Miss Warrington and Miss Norris, who have sworn that they left home against their judgment and desire and only when marriage had been promised them, Diggs named Marsha Washington as the one who had insisted that they go. As early as January 31, he testified, she had said to him, "You are a piker. We girls framed this and you fellows have got to go along with us."

Talked It Over with Girl.

"On March 3," testified the defendant, "I remember talking about my affairs with Miss Warrington. I've got to go away from here, I told her. 'Things are getting too hot for me.' She didn't want to go. I told her that I had to—that I had a future, a family and a business to protect and that I was going to Los Angeles for a while and give public opinion a chance to die down."

"A few days later she called me up and asked me why I was still in town. I told her that I had a wife and that there were details I had to look to."

"About a week before we went to Reno, the Ponbrock, my landlady, told me that the janitor of the building and the policeman on the beat had complained to him about my taking girls to my office."

"The same week I took an automobile ride with Miss Warrington on the upper Stockton road. We saw another machine behind us and I told her it was my father with an officer of the juvenile court. We traveled fifty miles an hour for some minutes and left them."

"My father was in town then and I knew he was looking for me. The girl said: 'Believe me, you are not going away and leave me here.'"

"Do just as you please," I said. "I am going and I am going alone. I have got to go to a family here. I've got to think of them. I've got to go before me in this town and I want this to blow over."

"Marsha said to me, 'I've got to go, too, and Miss Norris with me.' Miss Norris never would have gone to Reno if Miss Warrington hadn't insisted on it. 'I'm the first,' continued Diggs, "and rode around in it all day, calling at O'Brien's saloon from time to time. 'That father of yours is a terror,' O'Brien told me. 'He's running around here like a maniac. It's places like this that ruin young men,' he says. 'I'll have you cased if it takes the last cent I've got.'"

Goes Into Hiding.

"I went into hiding. When I came out I learned Miss Warrington and Miss Norris had visited my hotel. On March 3 I met Caminetti and Marshall Diggs, my uncle, with Miss Norris and we talked things over. Miss Norris suggested that I leave town. I explained that business men had placed several hundred thousand dollars in contracts in my hands. Miss Norris insisted that I'd best leave town. My uncle told me my wife knew about my affairs."

"Caminetti next day told me his wife had been after him, that she had told him she was going to Judge Hughes for a warrant, that things had gone far enough."

"Later Caminetti told me he had seen my wife. You've been a snake to me for four years," he said she told him. "Now I'm going to show you what a real serpent is. I'm going to cause you untold trouble."

"Caminetti said she had called him to the house by telephone. He said he was so scared when he went in that he hid behind a door when he saw her coming until he was sure she didn't have a gun. That same night O'Brien told me that he'd heard through Marsha Washington's uncle that her father had said he was suspicious of me and had said he'd found us together he'd kill us both."

The direct examination concluded without any question about the purchase of tickets to Reno, the trip on the train or the three days in the Reno lodging house.

Diggs' lawyers did not attempt to have him deny that he got the transportation to Reno, paid for the Pull-

Houston & Texas Central passenger train No. 65, due in Marlin at 5:10 a. m., was delayed for a little more than three hours this morning by the engine breaking down just as they arrived at the depot. Another engine was brought from Waco and the train left at 8:25 a. m.

THIEVES ARE AT WORK.

Evidence Shows Work Is of Man Using Small Box as Helper.

Thieves visited three business establishments in Marlin.

Handelman Bros' store on Live Oak street is the only place where the thieves got any booty. Entrance was made through a rear window. The one who entered must have been a very small boy, for he slipped between two three-quarter-inch iron bars that by actual measurement shows a space of just seven inches.

Entrance was forced into the C. E. Spencer store, corner of Commerce and Wood streets, by breaking a heavy glass show window.

They also attempted to break into the grocery store of Geo. Frank on Winter street. The first attempt was made at the rear door, but that was too securely barred. They then proceeded to remove the strips and putty around the large glass in the front door, but must have been disturbed at their work, as they left before taking out the glass.

ATTRACTION AT COUNTRY CLUB.

Plans Permanent Management to Be Placed in Hands of Directors.

Plans are being discussed whereby it is hoped that the country club might become a permanent enterprise of Marlin. The plan, which seems to meet with the most general approval, is that of electing two directors, one from the Commercial Club and one from the Young Men's Business League, they to take charge of the club through a manager. All certificates of membership and passes for friends of the members to be issued by the directors.

A party of members and guests went down Monday night and enjoyed the cool breeze, fine bathing, dancing and music for several hours. This was in the way of an opening of the club.

DOGS DESTROY SHEEP.

Connecticut Farmers Have 500 Killed in Few Weeks.

(Plainfield, Conn.) Dispatch to New York Herald.

For the second time in a few weeks dogs have got among H. B. Chapman's sheep, killing nearly 200. A neighbor lost 150 and a 100 belonging to Charles Starr Hyde of North Canterbury, were killed.

For the past 20 years it has cost the town thousands of dollars to pay for sheep killed by dogs, and with the exception of one or two farmers in each township, sheep raising is a thing of the past. Eight hundred farmers in the county have been compelled to give up sheep raising owing to dogs killing them.

All the tariff agreements in the world are not a drop in the bucket when compared with the destruction done by dogs to the sheep raising industry.

Convict Made Pets of Mice.

An interesting story of a convict and his two pet mice is told in the report of Captain Hanson, the prison commissioner of London.

Captain Hanson said the convict, who was imprisoned at Parkhurst, had two pet mice, but was ordered to another prison, where he was unable to take his pets. Captain Hanson promised to have them cared for, and himself went to the cell for the mice.

"Never shall I forget the parting scene," continued the officer. "The man took each of the mice, calling them by name, kissed them, and then put them in a little box he had lined with flannel, and with them a piece of bread and a piece of cheese he had saved."

the abolishment of the Dutch standard, which is held to be a strong discrimination in the interest of sugar refiners, would not be delayed until March, 1914, when the rest of the sugar tariff becomes effective.

Senator Simmons gave notice that he would offer further amendments to the sugar schedule before the bill was approved, to make it clear that the existing sugar duty of $1.50 per hundred pounds is to continue in force until the new rate of $1 per hundred becomes effective next March. Senator Cummings said he believed unless such amendments were made, sugar would come in free of duty from the time the new tariff becomes law until the proposed duties take effect next year.

Action on the sugar schedule today was followed by a speeding up of the legislative machinery of remaining sections.

Democratic leaders expressed confidence tonight that tariff revision would be greatly hastened within the next week. The fight over free wool is still to occur; but the success today on the sugar schedule was accepted as an indication of what will happen when wool is reached.

Before adjournment tonight the senate had disposed of the schedule devoted to rates on spirits, wines and liquors, with the exception of the provisions relating to tax on fortified wines; and the cotton schedule was taken up and briefly debated. Senator Lippitt attacking the proposed system of fixing ad valorem duties on thread and yarn based on the trade number of the product.

Engineers Placed in Field.

Temple, Tex., Aug. 19.—An engineering corps was placed in the field today under the direction of Chief Engineer Turner of the Temple, Northwestern & Gulf railway and the first work undertaken was the running of lines from the end of the track near the city limits on the north to connect with the proposed terminals in the city. As soon as these tracks are located and laid construction material will commence to be received, it being the intention of the company to receive same here from other railways and distribute it along the right of way with its own equipment and over its own tracks, thereby securing an advantage in freight rates.

NEGRO KILLS A WHITE MAN

Attacks Employer Who Attempts to Prevent Assault on German Girl.

San Antonio, Aug. 19.—Dr. Augustus Maverick, 28 years old, was shot and killed last night by a former negro employee, Lee Johnson, who previous to shooting Dr. Maverick, had attacked and shot a German girl employed at the Maverick home. The negro was captured by Mounted Officer Duke Carver and is in jail with a charge of murder against him.

The negro was infuriated with the German girl and had been forcing his attentions upon her for some time. He returned to the house last night and using a ladder secured entrance to the girl's room. The struggle ended with the girl shot twice and struck by the negro with his fist. Dr. Maverick went to her rescue and was shot three times in the neck, dying at he fell across the threshold of his wife's room. The doctor's father, armed with a revolver, arrived on the scene just in time to interrupt the negro in an attempted assault on the eight-year-old daughter of Dr. Maverick. He fired, wounding the negro, who then fled. The police were notified and Officer Carver, on the way to the Maverick home, captured the negro. An effort will be made to give the big game a speedy trial, as considerable feeling has been aroused by the brutality of the crime.

GOOD ROADS FOR MISSOURI.

Business Men and Farmers to Pull State Out of Mud.

Kansas City, Aug. 19.—Fifty thousand business men and farmers of western Missouri. It was estimated, furnished their picks and shovels to-night and prepared to shoulder them at daylight tomorrow to take part in Missouri's two good roads days, the slogan for which is: "Pull Missouri out of the mud."

Hundreds of Missouri mothers and daughters and wives and sweethearts were busy, too, preparing lunches for the "boys." In many counties the women have organizations of their own and will serve dinners to the workers at noon. At many small points a general holiday has been declared.

Tonight, while Missouri citizens were making ready for tomorrow's test, Governor Geo. H. Hodges of Kansas was busy in the state house at Topeka winding up his state business so he might journey to Jefferson City and assist Governor Elliott W. Major of Missouri, who issued the proclamation for the road days. Both executives are prepared to don overalls and take an active part in rebuilding the roads near the Missouri capital.

His motor traces scurried over Jackson county today, taking the last of the equipment and supplies needed by the thirty-six road overseers and tonight everything was "set" and waiting for the word "go" early tomorrow. It is estimated Kansas City alone will contribute 3,000 men to Jackson county's army of workers.

Many firms have excused employees tomorrow that they may work the roads. Other concerns that could not spare their men have contributed to a fund for the hire of "substitutes" and 200 of the latter have been employed.

Iron Ore Statistics.

The rank of the five states producing the largest amount of iron ore—Minnesota, Michigan, Alabama, New York and Wisconsin—remained unchanged in 1912. The Minnesota iron ranges are producing at present considerably more iron ore than is mined in all the rest of the states together, having furnished nearly 42 per cent of the total for the United States in 1912. The whole Lake Superior district, comprising all the mines in Minnesota and Michigan and part of those in Wisconsin, mined 46,368,878 tons in 1912, or nearly 84.9 per cent of the total.

The Nimble Dollar

We once had a "Nimble Dollar" in this bank. We loaned it to a Farmer. The Farmer traded it for groceries, and the groceryman deposited it here. We loaned it to a Dry Goods Man and he paid a Clerk with it. The Clerk deposited it in our Savings Department at 4 per cent interest and we loaned it to a Farmer on Real Estate security. The Farmer gave it to a Doctor for services and the Doctor deposited it here. We loaned it again to a Druggist and he gave it to his Prescription Clerk for service. The Clerk again depositing it here for safekeeping. The bank loaned it to a Farmer again and the Farmer bought implements with it. The Implement house made a mistake and gave it to a "Waco Knocker," who sent it to a Northern Mail Order house, and it will never be seen in McLennan County again.

A Nimble Dollar works day and night. If you have a dollar that is not working day and night, deposit it here.

CALENDAR OF THE SPECIAL SESSION

Governor Submitted Fifty-One Subjects for Legislation.
Thirty-One General Bills Passed Legislature and One Resolution of Thirty-Two Topics

Austin, Tex., Aug. 19.—Governor Colquhoun submitted to this special session of the legislature fifty-one subjects for legislation. Three of these subjects, the road laws, independent school districts, and fixing term of holding district court clauses resulted in the passage of thirty local bills.

The full number of local bills passed with special submissions was thirty-four.

The legislature also passed thirty-one general bills and one resolution covering thirty-two of the forty-six topics of general legislation submitted.

Among the more important subjects submitted by the governor on which there was no legislation were validation of the penitentiary bonds, allowing the attorney general and his department to collect fees from passing on charters and approving bonds, the corporation colonization bill, the bonded warehouse bill, senatorial and judicial redistricting.

In the house ninety-six bills were introduced, in the senate fifty-eight—a total of 154 for the session. Besides these there were ten house concurrent resolutions and five senate concurrent resolutions—a total of fifteen.

General appropriations for the support of the state government were carried in five bills, namely, for state departments, judiciary, educational institutions, eleemosynary institutions and deficiencies combined. Other appropriations bills including $55,000 for mileage and per diem and two contingent expense measures aggregating $20,000.

The important general laws follows:

House bill 4.—Providing for direct election of United States senators.

House bill 15.—Penitentiary bill.

House bill 9.—Blue sky law.

Senate bill 46.—Civil 9:30 closing statute.

Senate bill 12.—Harmonizing the indeterminate and suspended sentence laws.

House bill 27.—Regulating the juvenile training school.

House bill 46.—Providing that 1,000 instead of 200 acres of school land may be included in a mineral lease.

House bill 39.—Allowing one year to dispose of goods bearing the Texas flag as the trade mark emblem.

House bill 57.—Providing for writs of attachment on foreign non-residents.

House bill 74.—Providing for the abolition of drainage districts.

House bill 79.—Requiring railroads to furnish cars upon shippers' demand and modifying demurrage exactions.

House bill 29.—Prohibiting the creation of deficiencies by state board and heads of state departments and institutions.

Senate bill 40.—Making more stringent the law permitting the taking of fish and terrapin with seine in breeding season.

Senate bill 42.—Validating certain school land purchases.

House bill 44.—Increasing the negotiable value of warehouse receipts.

Among the important resolutions adopted were:

Providing for a commission to raise funds to provide a Texas exhibit at the Panama Pacific exposition in San Francisco in 1915.

Providing for payment of the salaries and expenses of the committee which visited the penitentiaries and convict farms investigating the cases of friendly convicts. The committee recommended 400 pardons, but less than fifty have been granted.

The local bills passed follow:

Road laws for Gillespie, Wood, Hall, Smith, Liberty, Dallas, Kaufman, San Antonio, Mason counties; independent school districts for Copita, Fenley and Riden, Thorndale, Piles Valley Orphans' home, Port Aransas, Fritzsche, Kiefer, Bishop Star, Memphis, Gonzales; court bills, reorganizing Forty-Seventh, Thirty-Fourth, Twenty-Sixth, Fifty-Third, Twenty-Eighth, Forty-Ninth, Sixty-Third and Thirty-Eighth judicial districts. Two new courts were created, one at El Paso and one at Texarkana. The only municipal bill passed was that authorizing Nacogdoches to sell part of its main plaza for federal building purposes.

A bill was passed authorizing the sale of submerged land on Galveston island to be used for dry dock and marine railway purposes, also a bill providing for the extension of the Galveston seawall to and around Fort San Jacinto. Another bill, local in nature, was that authorizing the Cordero Light power company to construct a dam across the Guadalupe river.

House bill 74, relating to extension of rights of drainage districts in levying taxes.

Montague county road law.

No Time to "Play Politics."

(New York Herald.)

The country is in no mood to look with complacency upon any attempt, no matter from what source, to "play politics" with this Mexican situation.

No possible good can come of the effort of some republican senators to embarrass the administration by calling for an investigation to be conducted by the senate committee on foreign relations. These gentlemen know that all the facts concerning conditions in Mexico are in the possession of the department of state, and there can have been no concealment from President Wilson.

They should keep quiet. So should these senators from the southwest, who, in their catering to the jingo sentiment of Texas and other states along the border, are making things harder for the administration. And this admonition applies with equal force to senators who, whether they know it or not, are being influenced by those elements which would seize upon the plight of a sister republic to despoil her of some of her territory.

Senators have a very inadequate conception of their duty to the country when they contribute, in any way, to the difficulties of what is already a very difficult problem.

The policy of the United States toward Mexico must be based upon cooperation of right and justice. The problem is in no sense one of party. If there has been some ground for criticism of the administration for apparent dilatoriness in coming to a realization of the magnitude of the problem confronting it even if there is much to criticize in the conduct or lack of conduct of the department of state by its present head, no good can now come from indulging in recriminations or harping upon what might have been.

Upon president Wilson rests the responsibility of formulating a policy that will do justice to Mexico and that will furnish no excuse for the severance of the traditional friendly relations between the United States and that country. Instead of seeking to embarrass the president, senators should patriotically second his efforts.

And above all, there should be no "playing" of party politics.

Almost the Same Thing.

John W. Davis Named for Solicitor General

John W. Davis, now representative in congress from West Virginia, is to fill one of the most important positions in the government at Washington. He is to be solicitor-general of the department of justice, a place which was occupied by Marshall Billitt till President Taft quit office.

The solicitor-general appears for the government before the supreme court of the United States, and he must therefore be a lawyer of great ability and character. In that court he meets the ablest lawyers of the country as his adversaries. The salary is only $10,000 a year, which is less than the fees many lawyers will draw for single cases in which they will appear against him.

Mr. Davis is now serving his second term in the house of representatives. He will resign August 10 to take his new place.

Read what a U. S. Rural Route Carrier says about the "BIG X" when passing through Waco Monday and his return trip to Abilene. Mr. Julian says:

"I have been riding a Twin Excelsior 1912 Model on my rural route for the past twelve months, making a total mileage during this time of over twenty thousand miles. My motor expenses have been $1.90. I handle over 1,500 pounds of mail each month on a thirty-mile route, averaging over 150 stops each day. I have never had any delay on the route.

"I consider the HANDLE BAR CLUTCH CONTROL the greatest improvement ever put on a Motorcycle, as it allows perfect control of the machine under all conditions.

"I consider the Excelsior Motorcycle PAR EXCELLENCE for rural carriers or anyone needing a reliable and durable machine."

Art of Economy.

All economy, whether of state, household, or individuals, may be defined to be the art of managing labor.

Now, we have warped the word "economy" in our English language into a meaning which it has no business whatever to bear. In our use of it, it constantly signifies merely sparing or saving; economy of money means saving money—economy of time, sparing time, and so on. But that is a wholly barbarous use of sense, for it is not English, and it is bad Greek; barbarous in a noble sense, for it is not English, it is bad Greek, and it is worse sense.

Economy no more means saving money than it means spending money. It means the administration of a thing; its stewardship; spending or saving that is, whether money or time, or anything else, to the best possible advantage.—Ruskin.

Baylor University

Waco, Texas

The oldest institution of higher learning in the state, having been chartered first by the Republic of Texas. During its life it has kept pace with the growth of the people and their wants. From its walls have gone some of the keenest men and women of the state. They have been trained for social service rather than for selfish gain. At Waco students are admitted on 14 standard units, after which four years are required for graduation for the Bachelor's degree. One may save time by attending Summer Quarters. For the classics, science, fine arts, athletics, all under Christian environment, no school in the state is thought to be better. The departments of Medicine and Pharmacy have been strengthened through addition of more teachers and a clinic building to the sanitarium. It is confidently believed that during the year the Medical College will be accepted by the American Medical Association into the "Class A." This means that now to enter upon the study of medicine in Baylor University requires 14 units of high school work, plus one year of approved college work.

The German navy has converted an old torpedo boat into a combined tugboat and ice breaker for use around Berlin.

Electrical machinery to keep targets in a rifle gallery in motion has been designed by an Australian.

The earth for miles around trembled and great damage was done to property. Within a radius of 300 feet from the scene of the explosion every house was demolished, while farther away in the village and in the adjoining town of San Pedro many fine residences were badly damaged and their interior furnishings ruined. Numerous Americans and other foreigners reside in Tacubaya and San Pedro, but none of them is reported to have been injured.

Late this afternoon over fifty bodies had been dug from the ruins of houses in Tacubaya and the Red Cross had ministered to scores of wounded.

OAKWOOD ANNEX WACO CEMETERY ASSOCIATION

Wants Tab Kept on Old Sol So He Can Answer Light Kicks

When does the sun go down and when does it make its appearance in the morning? That's the question Commissioner John Dollins, who has supervision of the city's lights, wants answered.

He asked the city commission for an answer yesterday morning, but that body failed to satisfy him. Mr. Dollins wants to know, so that he can tell whether complaints that are coming to him with reference to street lights are just or unjust. He stated that numerous complaints were made that the lights were not turned on until 7:45 at night and were turned off at 5:15 in the morning. He said he understood the city's contract with the Texas Power and Light company provided that the lights should be turned on at night a certain length of time after the sunset, and should be turned off in the morning at a certain time before the sun came up. He said at present the lighting company was switching the lights on at 7:45 and off at 5:15 o'clock, according to information given him. Complaints had come to his department that in some parts of the city the lighting was not furnished as soon as it should be, and was cut off too early in the morning.

The commission vouchsafed no information on the question.

Request for a light at Eighteenth and Alexander streets was made to the commission by J. A. Craven Sr. This matter was referred to Mr. Dollins. Mr. Craven also asked for repairs on Alexander street, which he said had been torn up by the hauling of heavy material for use in the construction of a new school building on Twentieth street. Also he wanted sewer connections at Summer and Twentieth streets. These requests were referred to Mr. Foster of streets.

CONTRACT TO OPEN STREETS

City Reaches Agreement With Owners of Property on North Eighteenth for Right of Way.

The question of the proposed opening of North Eighteenth street from Colcord avenue to Trice street was practically solved yesterday when the city commission authorized the mayor and secretary to execute a contract with the Bolton-Cameron Land company, which called for right of way for the street through land owned by that company. A plat of the land of the company accompanied the contract.

The contract, which was a new agreement, and which had been accepted by the land company, provides that the company will donate a strip of land thirty feet wide across the entire northeast side of the holdings of the company, provided certain concessions are obtained from the management of the Providence sanitarium and the Sturgis estate. The contract provides that the street is to be graded and upkept by the city on the same basis as other streets are maintained, and further provides the city at its own expense is to extend the sanitary sewer to a point in Trice street and the city is to reimburse the land company for any money that company shall expend in laterals, after service is given to as many as six houses to a block in the property of the company.

The new contract practically guarantees that not only Eighteenth, but also Twentieth street will be opened. The management of the Providence sanitarium has practically agreed to donate a strip of land for the street, and Commissioners Foster and Caulfield were appointed yesterday to take the matter up with the managers of the Sturgis estate. No opposition is expected from that source.

Second Arrest Is Made.

May Davis arrested some days ago on a charge of violating the anti-pass law, was re-arrested yesterday and docketed at the county jail on a charge of forgery. The second charge is said to have grown out of the first. The woman is alleged to have presented a pass over the Katy railroad from Waco to St. Louis at the local baggage room to have her baggage checked. The pass, it is alleged, was secured in violation of the anti-pass law.

E. H. Ruggan, arrested in Kansas City in connection with the same case and returned to Waco yesterday by Sheriff Fleming, was released yesterday afternoon on bond.

Hand It Crushed.

Joe Green, negro, had his right hand crushed yesterday morning while guiding a cable used in the construction of the Mary street sewer. Part of the hand may have to be amputated. The negro was taken to his home immediately following the accident. He was working with the gang stationed on Mary between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Culberson Improving.

J. W. Blake of this city yesterday received a letter from Senator Culberson's private secretary, Mr. Furney, in which Mr. Furney states that the senator's health is constantly improving. He thinks there is no occasion for his friends to be alarmed, and that Senator Culberson will soon be fully recovered.

LINEMAN MAKES STATEMENT

Hurt by City Wire, Says J. E. Adair, Electrician to Fix Ordinance.

The liability of the city for damages occasioned by a lineman coming into contact with a wire of the fire alarm service may be established in investigation of a claim presented to the city commission yesterday morning by J. E. Adair. Adair is a lineman for the Southwestern Telephone company. A few days ago, while at work in East Waco, he was burned about the hands by taking hold of a fire alarm wire. The wire is run on the poles of the telephone company. All franchises granted to public service corporations for establishing of poles and wires in the city contain the provision that the city may attach its fire alarm wire to the poles of such company.

Adair made no estimate of the amount he would ask of the city. However, he stated he had not been able to work since August 8, when he was injured, and that he had been informed by the physician attending him that the fingers of one hand might be permanently stiffened.

City Electrician E. F. Copley was summoned to hear Mr. Adair's statement, and Mr. Copley expressed the opinion that if the lineman had cleared himself before taking hold of the wire, he would not have been injured. Adair's claim was referred to the city attorney.

In this connection Mr. Copley suggested that an ordinance should be passed providing protection for the city's alarm service wires. He stated at present there was no ordinance under which the city could prevent interference with this wire, stating that linemen take hold of it and move it around on the poles.

Mr. Copley was instructed to draft such an ordinance and refer it to the city attorney.

Lid Clamped on Racing in Parks; Must Obey Rules

Fast driving of automobiles through Cameron Park has aroused the commissioners, who are anxious to bring about the maximum of safety, and they have adopted rules to govern all who use the public grounds.

The following has been issued:

To the Public:

We are having some difficulty in regulating the speed of automobiles in Cameron park.

The nature of the park roads and the number of people constantly using them, make speeding dangerous, and it cannot be allowed. The park is a public playground, not a speedway, and fast driving is inconsiderate of the rights and the safety of other people. We wish to avoid, if possible, arrests in the park, but we insist that the speed limit be observed.

We also call attention to the following driving rules, which apply to automobiles and also to all other vehicles:

Keep to the right on all roads.

In passing a slower moving vehicle, going in the same direction, pass on the left.

In driving the River road loop, go in by the river first as indicated by the signs.

Slow down at points indicated by sign boards.

These rules are important, and not unreasonable, and we earnestly request a strict observance of them.

W. J. NEALE,
B. C. KENDALL,
Commissioners William Cameron Park.

City Building Permits.

Permits to build were issued to the following yesterday by R. L. Strubling, city tax assessor and collector:

Frank Oldham, 1701 Webster street; repairs; estimated cost, $200.

Martha Whitlow, 1194 Renick street, five-room house; estimated cost, $625.

Mrs. J. J. Delaney, Nineteenth and Sanger, two-story apartment house, garage and restaurant; estimated cost, $2,300.

Brooks Avenue Methodist church, Seventh and Brooks; additions; estimated cost, $1,000.

TRANSFERRING OF BONDS OPPOSED

BONDING CO. CANNOT TRANSFER PAPER TO ANOTHER, COMMISSION RULES.

CAULFIELD ASSERTS VIEWS

Blocking Complaint Received—Paving Plans Completed—Routine Matters.

The city commission went on record yesterday morning as opposing the transfer of a bond from one bonding company to another, given by a paving company to the city as a guarantee of maintenance of paving. This decision settles a question which has often been brought before that body. The matter was brought up when application was made for the transfer of the construction and maintenance bond of the Texas Bitulithic company, covering the paving of Columbus street, from one bonding company to another. Finance Commissioner Caulfield, to whom the matter had been referred, recommended that the request be not granted. The commission upheld him in his recommendation. The commission took the stand that when a bond had been formally accepted by the city, it was a guarantee of good faith for performance of contract, and a transfer to another bonding company was useless and might endanger the city's interests.

Complaint was also made to the commission that the paving company had erected barriers at the crossings all along Columbus street, blocking that street for a great distance. The commission took the stand that this was necessary to allow the base of the pavement to settle before the top layer of pavement is put down. It was also stated that the company was laying about a half block of permanent paving per day.

Final plans for paving Herring avenue from Nineteenth to Twenty-Third street were made yesterday. The street for some distance forms the line for the city limits, and one side of the street is outside the city, while the other is inside. The stand that this was necessary to allow the base of the pavement to settle before the top layer of pavement is put down. It was also stated that the company was laying about a half block of permanent paving per day.

E. H. Ruggan, charged with violating the anti-pass law, was placed in jail here yesterday by Sheriff S. S. Fleming. Ruggan was returned from Kansas City, where he was arrested on advice sent from Waco. Sheriff Fleming went to Kansas City Sunday and returned yesterday with the man. Ruggan is alleged to have secured a pass over the Katy railroad from Waco to St. Louis for a woman, on the representation that she was his wife. He was employed by that road as a fireman at the time. The woman was arrested when she presented the pass at the local office to have her baggage checked. Ruggan, who was out on his run on the road at the time, disappeared. He was later located in Kansas City, where it is alleged he was going under the name of Gus Williams.

Suit Against City For Three Bones Is on Trial Today

The suit of Dan Ford vs. the city of Waco, which was set for trial in Justice J. J. Padgett's court this afternoon, Ford brought suit for return of money which he had paid to the city as pound fees. Two horses belonging to him were taken up by the pound man. Ford claims the animals were released as a result of a wind storm which blew down his fence. He paid the fee and requested a return from the commission. This was refused, and he brought suit.

The following new members were admitted upon the unanimous vote of the directors: Honorary members, M. M. Harris, S. J. Truman and Abe Friedman.

Resignation of Director O. M. Weatherly was received with regret. Sam Knight was elected to succeed him.

RESTORING THE NATIONAL PIKE

Ohio Has Led the Way in Fixing Up the Historic Old Highway.

Pioneer days of Ohio are brought into close relation with the present in a sentimental way as Ohio begins the work of reconstructing the old National Pike, built so many years ago from the Cumberland mountains across Ohio and Indiana. It was the great highway for the pioneer seeking homes in the new West. It was built at government expense to facilitate the travel of the men and women seeking homes in the new land, were to help carve out great states.

Over that highway traveled many thousands. It was a long procession with occasional individuals dropping out of the train as they neared the place selected for new homes. Later Ohio, Indiana and Illinois poured that stream of eager, ambitious humanity. The forerunners of many distinguished men and women rode or tramped along its smooth surface. It was, in its day, the greatest of American highways in the central part of the new country. It ranks in importance with the more picturesque Santa Fe trail.

For many years the restoration of the old National Pike has been the dream of good road enthusiasts all over the country. Years of ardent labor resulted in a combination of federal and state aid for its restoration and the work was begun in Ohio. The first section restored will be the link that connected Columbus and Zanesville. These two points were historic in the early days of the pike and there is a sense of fitness in having the work of restoration started where early history was replete with the accomplishments of brave men and women of stout heart. Ohio has agreed to render all aid possible in restoring the old pike. The disposition to continue the work to the West has been indicated in Indiana. Good road enthusiasts hope it may ultimately reach from Washington to San Francisco. That is a dream not incapable of fulfillment.

The committee to make arrangements and work out details for the excursion by interurban to Dallas during the Dallas State fair will be notified by President Frank Trau today.

It was the ruling of the directors that hereafter all committees shall make reports in writing.

President Frank J. Trau, at the suggestion of W. V. Crawford, was instructed to write the Chamber of Commerce and find out what that organization is doing toward the raising of the $40,000 factory bonus.

See McCullum, chairman of the committee looking after the inauguration of street car service to Bell Mead, was granted further time. He has arranged for a conference with President Strickland to be held shortly.

Letters will be mailed out to all members asking for suggestions for by-law and constitutional provisions to be made the committee that is now drafting regulations and constitution for the government of the league.
